

JMWH PEER REVIEWERS 2003

The Editorial Board of the Journal of Midwifery & Women's Health extends appreciation and thanks to those who have been active as peer reviewers for the Journal in the past year. The insights and recommendations that peer reviewers provide are an essential component of the publication process. This constructive feedback facilitates the editorial process that is key to achieving excellence in our journal. Collaboration is an important element in producing the Journal, and we appreciate the generous commitment of time and expertise of peer reviewers in our efforts to make JMWH a publication of which we can all be justly proud.
