THE CELL CYCLE

May 13-17, 1992

Organized by:

David Beach, Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory
Arnold Levine, Princeton University
Joan Ruderman, Harvard Medical School

This is to be the first of an annual series of meetings intended to gather together people working on the Cell Cycle. This meeting will focus on all aspects of the Cell Cycle, emphasizing genetic, biochemical, and cellular approaches, in both unicellular model organisms and metazoans.

The sessions will focus on:

- * Mitosis
- * DNA Replication
- * Cell Cycle Regulation
- * Oncogene Interaction
- * Viral Proteins
- * Mitogenesis

The organizers invite submission of abstracts concerning recent work for oral or poster presentations by March 4, 1992.

Kindly forward all forms and correspondence to:

Eighth Conference

CELLULAR AND MOLECULAR BIOLOGY OF HEMOGLOBIN SWITCHING

Rosario Conference Center - Orcas Island, WA
May 30 - June 2, 1992

Topics:

Organization, Structure and Function of Cis Active Elements
Erythroid Transcriptional Factors
Gene Transfer and Pluripotent Stem Cell Biology
Molecular Control of Hemoglobin Switching in Transgenic Mice
In Vivo Manipulation of Fetal Hemoglobin in Man and Experimental Animals

Participation Limited By Available Space
